Introduction to Sociology

"The study of Sociology ... is an effort to understand ourselves in the hope that self-enlightenment will lead to improved lives."

Anthony Giddens

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is an introductory survey on the discipline of sociology. It is intended to give students a broad understanding of group dynamics, social institutions / processes, social inequalities, and social change. The basic objective of this course is to explore sociological concepts, theories, and principles of interpretation.

There are two lectures and a discussion section each week. You are expected to keep up with the reading material.

Attendance at lectures, sections, and films (if scheduled) is required.

Course Agenda

- To gain basic knowledge of social processes (e.g., socialization, deviance, social control, and stratification by class, gender, and race) and social institutions in society (e.g., the family, religion, and the state)
- To become acquainted with some of the theoretical paradigms and explanatory arguments in the discipline.
- To apply sociological arguments to contemporary events and / or personal experience.
- To explore cultural, class, religious, and other differences within and between societies.

Course Goals

- To facilitate the development of critical and theoretical "thinking" about the relationship between personal experiences, social conditions, and the social processes through which these are constituted.
- To question the taken-for-granted assumptions connected to social condition.
- To (re)activate our sociological imaginations in challenging ways.

COURSE SCHEDULE

- First Day of Class: 01/18
- Last Day of Class: 05/04
- Final Exam Day: 05/09
- Number of Lecture Periods: 29
- Number of Holidays: 4 ( 01/16, 03/12, 03/14, 3/16)
- Number of Absences Allowed without Penalty: 3

TEXTS / READINGS

Required (Available at the University Bookstore)

- Essentials of Sociology (EOS), 3rd edition (2011) by Anthony Giddens, Mitchel Duneier, Richard Appelbaum, and Deborah Carr

Supplementary Readings (Available on Blackboard)

- Selections from Sociological Footprints (SF) (2010) by Leonard Cargan and Jeanne H. Ballantine, editors.
- Selection from Sociological Odyssey (SO) (2010) by Patricia Adler and Peter Adler, editors.
- Selections from Understanding Society: An Introductory Reader (US) (2009) by Margaret L. Andersen, Kim A. Logio, and Howard F. Taylor, editors.

NOTE 1: Additional readings for this course MAY be assigned throughout the semester. These will be provided to you.

NOTE 2: All course-related communication -- including individual e-mails -- will take place through Blackboard. You are required to keep up with this communication. Additionally, the supplementary readings will be available on Blackboard for you to access and / or download. As such, it is your responsibility to familiarize yourself with Blackboard. You may do this by consulting someone at a computer lab or the library. I recommend you do this no later than by January 25th.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

I. *Class / Section Attendance / Participation (50 points) (16%)

Attendance at lectures, sections, and films (if scheduled) is required.

You can accumulate up to 50 points for the entire semester, depending on your attendance and participation rate in your Discussion Section. To ensure accurate reward for your presence in Discussion Sections, you will receive a score every time you attend. Attendance counts for 30 points. Participation counts for 20 points.

This course requirement is worth 16% of your grade.

NOTE 3: Attendance in sections is mandatory every week and is counted as part of your grade. You earn about 2 points every time you attend. You lose about 2 points every time you are absent. Additionally, there will be a penalty once you reach 4 absences--your Final Grade for the course will be downgraded a Full Grade. For example, if you have 3 absences, you will lose about 6 points, BUT if you have 4 absences, you will lose about 8 points plus your Final grade will be downgraded a Full Grade (i.e., you will lose 30 points from your Total Final Score).

NOTE 4: Absences include medical, family, and work emergencies. Absences because of institutionally sanctioned (Team or Group) events will not count against you, provided a SIUC Administrative functionary provides official documentation. No official documentation specifying the dates means that you will be counted as absent.

You are expected to engage with the course material, to actively participate in the learning process. Discussion in the classroom facilitates the learning process. Asking questions, therefore, plays an important role in what you learn. "Questioning involves speculating about possibilities both real and unreal, given and hypothetical." Good "questions are designed to probe, to find something that is not already there, to discover relationships and possibilities that are not given. ... By posing questions [you] want answered," you will invest yourself "more fully and care more deeply" about the subject matter (Bowker 2010: 129, 133).

"Inquiry is liberating" for it helps us "formulate[] our perspective on the world and transforms [us] in the process" (Deluty 2010: 137).

Your class participation in the form of your directed inquiries plays an important role in what you learn. Come prepared to ask questions during the class period. Bring your discoveries, identified contradictions, and / or your perspective on the readings to our get-togethers. As you engage with the course material, work to formulate questions for you to bring to class. Develop your questions: 1) After a good-faith reading of the material; 2) based on concepts, arguments, and assumptions in a particular reading; 3) on a "critical" evaluation of the latter components; and/or 4) on the connections between and within weekly readings.

I mention the issue of participation not to intimidate you but rather because I feel dialogue is conducive to the learning process. My role as an instructor is to stimulate the (further) development of "critical thinking." An important element to such development or practice is a question-centered approach to the learning process itself.

NOTE 5: As part of your Participation points, you will be given TWO syllabus quizzes during the term.

NOTE 6: It is your responsibility to communicate with your TA about your Participation and Attendance scores, should you need a sense of direction regarding these discussion section (and course) requirements. DO NOT wait until the end of the term to inquire about these. End of term inquiries will not be considered.

II. *Tests and Essay Examinations (250 points) (84%)

- 3 Tests (90 points, 30 ea.)
- 2 Essay Exams (60 points, 30 ea.)
- 1 Final (100 points)

You will be taking 3 Tests and a Final. All tests will be multiple-choice, and true and false. The first 3 Tests count 30 points each. The Final counts 100 points.

NOTE 7: Make-ups are only allowed for in-class Tests ONLY. You will have one week after the in-class Test date to turn in a make-up test. It your responsibility to make arrangements with your TA to take a make-up for an in-class Test.

You will also have to submit 2 take-home Essay Exams (EEs). Each EE counts 30 points. This course requirement entails answering a set of questions based on course lectures, readings, and discussions. EEs are 4-5 pp. in length.

This course requirement makes up about 84% of your grade.

Guidelines for EEs

EEs should be double-spaced, standard sociological journal format (1.25 margins), page numbered, and typed. Please ONLY use the last four (4) digits of your Dawg # on the upper right corner of the first page to identify your work when submitting these.

This course requirement is intended to provide you with an opportunity to further develop your analytical and writing skills. Your examinations should reflect a critical and sociological analysis of examined topics. These assignments should also reflect critical thinking ability. Critical thinking entails a willingness “to ask any question, no matter how difficult; to be open to any answer that is supported by reason and evidence; and to openly confront one's biases and prejudices when they get in the way” (Appelbaum and Chambliss 1995:4). “Critical” writing, moreover, reflects a concise understanding of a theme, idea, or concept, and also offers critical evaluation and/or (when possible) an alternative or more nuanced interpretation to material content.

Be sure to also reference the reading materials (i.e., the Textbook and Supplementary Readings) on your answers. Attach a bibliography of the referenced material to each of your EEs too.

NOTE 8: No late submissions for EEs will be accepted. Late EEs will automatically count for “0” points.

NOTE 9: No “re-doings” of any EEs are permitted. As such, it is very important that you are well prepared before composing your EE.

The following are the Due Dates for Tests and EEs:

EE 1: (02/17 in Discussion Section)	Test 3: (04/18)
Test 1: (02/22)	EE 2: (05/04 in Discussion Section)
Test 2: (03/07)	Final: (05/09)

See also course schedule below for Due Dates.

NOTE 10: The Final is not an option. You are required to take it.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:

- Morris Library: You will benefit from your University experience if you choose to take advantage of the services the Morris Library has to offer. The following are potential resources for you to take advantage of:
  - Research Resources at <http://www.lib.siu.edu/departments/distance/researchresources/view?searchterm=research%20resources>
  - Library Instruction at <http://www.lib.siu.edu/departments/instruction>
- Good Writing: Should you require help with your writing feel free to stop by my office. I shall be providing some tips on good writing, but in the mean time you may want to consult the following resource first:
  - The Writing Center at <http://write.siu.edu/>.
- Academic Success: Should you want guidance in achieving your best the following services are available to you:
  - Saluki First Year at www.FirstYear.siu.edu
  - Student Support Services at <http://triostudentsupport.siu.edu/>
  - Center for Academic Success at <http://success.siu.edu/cas/>
- Well-being: Stressed, homesick, or overwhelmed? SIU cares! You may contact Saluki Cares for help and referrals at www.salukicare.siu.edu
- Academic Integrity / Student Conduct: Plagiarism of any type or academic dishonesty will NOT be tolerated and will result in disciplinary action. Students are also expected to abide by Student Code of Conduct.
  - See <http://policies.siu.edu/policies/conduct.html> for info on Academic Dishonesty, Student Code of Conduct, and Academic Dishonesty Procedures.
- Incompletes: Incompletes need to be formally requested by the student and officially approved by me. No Incompletes will be granted on account of poor performance and/or after the end of the term.

- Classroom Conduct: No disruptive, distracting, or demeaning behavior will be tolerated in this class. Additionally, texting, recording of any type, ringing, and surfing the net are strictly prohibited during the Lecture/Discussion period. If your cell phone must be on for medical, childcare, or other reasons, please set it on vibrate. Should I need to remind you about Classroom Conduct more than twice, your final grade will be downgraded a letter grade – no exceptions!
- Acknowledging Differences: During the course of the semester we will have the opportunity to share thoughts, opinions, and beliefs about our life experiences as we try to illuminate the sociological perspective. Differences in outlooks will inevitably surface as we share our points of view. Let us recognize and acknowledge such differences as an opportunity to critically come to terms with the complex organization of social life. Most importantly, let us respect such differences. While the critical appraisal of difference is part of the course in the exchange of ideas, such an opportunity should not be conceived as an occasion to dismiss or put someone down.
- Emergency Procedures: Southern Illinois University, Carbondale is committed to providing a safe and healthy environment for study and work. Because some health and safety circumstances are beyond our control, we ask that you become familiar with the SIUC Emergency Response Plan and Building Emergency Response Team (BERT) program. Emergency response information is available on posters in buildings on campus, available on BERT's website at www.bert.siu.edu, the Department of Safety's website www.dps.siu.edu (disaster drop down), and in Emergency Response Guideline pamphlets. Know how to respond to each type of emergency.

Instructors will provide guidance and direction to students in the classroom in the event of an emergency affecting your location. It is important that you follow these instructions and stay with your instructor during an evacuation or sheltering emergency. The Building Emergency Response Team will provide assistance to your instructor in evacuating the building or sheltering within the facility.
- Statement for Disability Students: Special accommodations may be arranged for disability students. I encourage you to contact me at the end of lecture or during my office hours to discuss accommodation-related matters. See <http://disabilityservices.siu.edu/> for related info on Disability Support Services.
- Note for History-Education Students: Your work will be assessed as part of the accreditation review for the National Council for the Social Sciences. This course will explore and analyze a number of issues you will impart to your future high school students, including: how role, status, and social class impact interactions among individuals, groups, and institutions; the form, function, and evolution of institutions, their relationships, and how they influence people, events, and culture; how groups and institutions aim to meet individual needs and promote the common good, but create tensions between social conformity and expressions of individuality; how behavioral sciences can be applied to the examination of social problems.

A COMMENTARY ON TEACHING

“[T]eaching [is] a revolutionary act... Learning and teaching are complex, endlessly fascinating collaborations. [A teacher can] learn enormous amounts from the students ... [Students are] colleagues and companions on an intellectual, potentially life-changing journey.... [Good goals for teaching] include the development of critical thinking skills, acquiring the ability to work collaboratively, honing the art of applying theoretical concepts to actual historical and contemporary situations, and making connections between what we study and how we live” (Foran 2003:02).

A COMMENTARY ON OFFICE HOURS / CLASS SECTIONS

“Dialogue with the people is radically necessary to every authentic revolution.”
Paulo Freire

I encourage you to attend office hours and class sections. The TAs and I are available to address any concerns or issues connected to your academic experience. Please feel free to talk to us about the subject matter or assignments. You will do well in this course if you are prepared to study hard. Taking advantage of a more “accessible” setting either during office hours or class sections may help your learning efforts. We are available to address your issues, questions, concerns, ideas, or discoveries. We are interested in your reactions, responses, views, or perceptions. Part of the learning process requires meaningful dialogue between the teaching staff and the student. Therefore, your individual feedback is important and your thoughts, ideas, perceptions, concerns, questions, or doubts are essential to the learning process itself.

TA OFFICE HOURS

Yurino Kawashima: Ms + Ws, 8-11AM @ Faner 4339
Sarah Pitcher: Ms 12-2PM + Ws 1:30-3:30PM @ Faner 4337
Debaleena Ghosh: Ms + TUs, 11AM-2PM @ Faner 4339

You may communicate via Blackboard e-mail with your TA. Otherwise, you may leave a telephone message for your TA @ 453-2494.
